CITeR’s Mission
CITeR advances the performance of biometric systems and human credibility assessment systems, through cross-cutting research of enabling technologies, interdisciplinary training of scientists and engineering, and facilitation of new technology transfer to the private and government sectors through its affiliates.

Goals
CITeR’s Research Portfolio spans an extensive set of topics. Center affiliates pay yearly dues that provide them with voting privileges on the Advisory Board and thereby direct influence in the selection of projects being funded. Project results are shared among the affiliates at semiannual meetings. Effectively, the CITeR affiliates pay for the cost of one research program, but reap the benefits of ten times as many.

Affiliation Benefits:
• Access to students involved in center research.
• Cost effective, highly leveraged research
• Access to interdisciplinary faculty teams spanning health sciences, the basic sciences and engineering to address cross cutting biometric and credibility assessment system challenges.
• Access to a broad spectrum of research labs.
• Advanced copies of research results & publications
• Proprietary position on technology transfer licensing.
• Access to future customers.
• Semiannual Advisory Board Meetings.
• Window onto important new results and technologies.
• Teaming opportunities on proposals in response to government funding initiatives.
